BLAMES BROKERS FOR HIGH FUEL PRICES

Coal brokers of the State are responsible for the present high prices of Kentucky coal, according to information received at the office of Governor Edwin P. Morrow it was announced after the Governor had communicated with various mine operators and learned they were selling at the regular prices, ranging from $2.75 to $3.50 a ton and thereabouts.

No action is contemplated at present, it was indicated by the Governor, until additional reports are received from numerous other State operators. A list of 20 operators was furnished the Governor by the State Mine Inspector. The possibility that a special session of the Legislature will be called is believed remote, as the coal situation and price advances can be without the need of special legislation, it is learned.

Prices of coal range from $7.50 to $13.50 a ton upon certain brokers' lists, it is claimed. This coal, however, is contracted for by Eastern and Northern buyers, it is reported.

WEST VIRGINIA MEN CONVINCED BY POOLERS

Six West Virginia growers of Burley tobacco, from Hurricane, Milton and Winfield, who came to Lexington to learn the actual sentiment of Kentucky members of the Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-operative Association toward their organization, left for their homes thoroughly convinced that the co-operative system of handling burley tobacco has been a success, obtaining their information at first hand from growers they interviewed at home, in their fields or at a big public sale of lambs, which was held in Fayette county.

There were six in the delegation from West Virginia, and they "paired off" to make their inquiries, C. S. Hollansworth, of Hurricane, and F. H. Moss, of Winfield, forming one party of investigation, J. M. Chaney and Joseph Jordan, of Hurricane, another, and G. C. Blackwood and J. L. Sturm, of Milton, the other. They made their inquiries independent of any members of the Burley Association, though an automobile was placed at their disposal by members of the Association.

"We are thoroughly convinced," said Mr. Sturm, "that members of the Association in Kentucky are satisfied with the results obtained for them by the Association, many saying that they had already received twice as much for their crop under the new method of marketing as they had been paid last year, whether they ever receive another cent, though a third and final payment is coming to them."

Mr. Moss and Mr. Hollingsworth said that every grower they interviewed had declared himself satisfied with the system and that, in their opinion, it was a pronounced success.

The West Virginians called at the office of the Association and had explained to them the system of grading. They gave the Lexington receiving and storage plants a thorough inspection previous to their trip out in the country to see the growers.

The West Virginians will report their findings to their fellow-growers on their return home. The unanimity of view of the Kentucky growers in regard to co-operate marketing made a profound impression on the visitors, all of whom are farmers and growers of tobacco, whose purpose in coming to Kentucky was to learn at first hand and directly from the growers themselves how the new system of handling tobacco has worked and whether the growers are satisfied with it.

All said that they did not find a single dissatisfied member of the Burley Association, and that, though they thought that any further stay was a waste of time, so far as obtaining any additional information was concerned, their experience in this respect being like that of the delegation recently sent by the dark tobacco growers of Tennessee to Kentucky for the same purpose.

REALTORS TO HOLD MEETING AUGUST 23.

Real estate dealers of Central Kentucky, will meet on August the 23rd, as the guests of the Lexington Real Estate Board. The Lexington Board has also invited members of the Louisville and Cincinnati boards to be present for the meeting. More than 100 real estate men are expected to attend.

At the meeting of the Real Estate Board a committee was appointed to arrange a program and to furnish suitable entertainment. This committee is composed of Warfield Gratz, chairman; Joe C. DeLong, W. C. Lawwill, N. R. Garrison and Howard Wilkerson.

The purpose of the meeting is to promote the organization of local real estate boards in all the towns of Central Kentucky, and to secure members for the State real estate association, which was organized about six months ago.

The State Association is seeking to promote a standard of ethics among real estate brokers, and to secure legislation beneficial to the owners of property and to real estate men. This association also is trying to secure a law licensing real estate men, which will act as a safeguard to the public and be of advantage to real estate dealers. Such a law is now in operation in 20 States.
